It's cold inside

While worried students congregated in Quad 6 of Wymount Terrace to sculpt snow, this weekend the Freshmen turnout was a little sparse for the class snow sculpture contest. Perhaps the older you get, the better it looks. The cannon (above) and windmill (right) were products of the newbies' ingenuity. But when only the judges appeared for the frosh contest, an unidentified mummified student saved the event by getting "snowed" courtesy of his friends.

Vietnam truce becomes turbulence

ION (AP) — Hundreds more cease-fire violations and by the thousands threw the truce into bloody turbulence, bringing swift U.S. diplomatic action.

Along land-grabbing effort and static bickering between the Viet Vietnamese and the Saigon ment left large parts of the rside in chaos from the rized zone to the Mekong Delta. attacks and counterattacks left y positions of both sides in disorder and added to the already confused pattern of disputed holdings. The International Commission of Control and Supervision, still in the preliminary stages of organization, stalled over haggling between the two Vietnamese sides. Lacking enforcement authority, it faced a monumental task in restoring order.

Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew was due in Saigon Tuesday afternoon on the first leg of a seven-nation Asian tour that also will take him to Cambodia, Thailand, Laos, Singapore, Indonesia and Malaysia.

Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thompson, said the trip is intended partly to assure the Asian countries that "we're not abandoning our friends." U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was reported to have intervened for the second successive day in trying to solve a second diplomatic snag that could prove embarrassing to Agnew.

NEARLY 150 additional North Vietnamese delegates, flown from Hanoi to Saigon aboard two U.S. Air Force C130 transports to join the four-party military peace commission, imitated their Viet Cong allies and refused to budge from their planes.

The delegates were parked at Tan Son Nhut air base in front of U.S. base operations. In the same area where Agnew's jet was scheduled to land.

They "will be there till morning," said an Air Force man. "The big man is coming, and if they ain't gone by then, we're going to tow them away or taxi them away."

There were reports that the first two meetings of the four-party Joint Military Commission broke up in acrimonious disputes over the failure of at least one of the two Communist delegations to present credentials.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese demanded that they offer such documents. But the Viet Cong claimed they did not need them because they had been invited to the meeting, it was learned.

There were conflicting reports as to whether the North Vietnamese also refused to offer credentials. The cease-fire agreement makes no mention of credentials in its section on the military commissions.

FIFTY-SIX Americans known to have been prisoners of war in Southeast Asia remain unaccounted for by North Vietnam, the Pentagon said Monday.

Derrin Watson, sst. to the ASBYU Attorney General, will not be adopted. "I'll sign the petition myself," he said. "And I don't know of any vice-president who will agree to the proposal."

The suggested change is intended to be an "alternative to current election processes and result in more responsible officers," Boswell added.

The petition was approved by Elliott Cameron, dean of Student Life. Haddow hopes to exceed 2,200 signatures, the number of students who voted in the ratification of the new ASBYU Constitution this year.

Haddow said he opposed the proposal because it "denies interest groups such as clubs a voice. The delegates would not be accountable to anyone. It would be a situation of unfairness."

He added that Executive Council log rolling, or "you vote for this and I'll vote for your proposal," might change the mood of the vice-presidents currently not supporting the measure.

Oaks to talk on honesty

"Be Honest in All Behavior" is the subject of Pres. Dallin Oaks' devotional assembly address today at 10 a.m. in the Marriott Center.

President Oaks has headed the University since the summer of 1971. He succeeded Ernest L. Wilkinson who served in the position for 20 years.

Dr. Oaks, a 1954 BYU graduate, received the doctor of juris-prudence degree from the University of Chicago Law School in 1957. While at the school he edited the University's Law Review.

His legal career began as law clerk to Chief Justice Earl Warren. After practicing law, he became associate dean of the law at the University of Chicago, Visiting Professor of Law at the University of Michigan Law School and Professor of Law at Chicago University.

Named executive director of the American Bar Foundation in 1970, Dr. Oaks also served as legal and research advisor to the Bill of Rights Commission of the Illinois Constitutional Convention.

Y sponsors French week

With French week underway, today's speaker will be Dr. Richard Cummings from the University of Utah, speaking on "Husmans and the Ethics of Suffering" in 321 of the Wilkinson Center at 1 p.m.

Wednesday will feature play, "La Cantatrice Chaume" by Ionesco in the College Hall at 8 p.m.

BYU professor Wilfred Decou will speak Thursday at 1 p.m. in 347 ELWC on "French-Speaking Africa: Customs and Literature" followed by Dr. Victor Brombert of Yale University at 7:30 in 396 of the Ballroom on "Three Myths of Paris: Balzac, Hugo and Baudelaire."

On Friday from 5 to 9:30 p.m. a "Flea Market" swap meet with a French accent will be held in the west annex of the Smith Fieldhouse sponsored by the French Club and the Married Students.

At 6 p.m. on Friday the Play "La Cantatrice Chaume" will be presented again in the College Hall.

No info on local POW's

No new information has been coming concerning any of the POWs and MIAs in Utah County. Still the wives and families of these men are waiting and hoping.

The consensus of opinion among the wives is that the lists released from Vietnam "must be incomplete." No list has yet been released from Laos.

Mrs. Marilyn Wood, wife of Lt.

Col. Dan C. Wood who has been missing since January 1966, said "approximately 1200 names of servicemen have not appeared on either the 'dead' or 'alive' lists—sometimes soon these men must be accounted for."

Mrs. Pat Rex, whose husband has been missing since December 1968, commented that a couple of nights ago the Air Force sent messengers in the middle of the night to tell her "nothing has changed."

Mrs. William Lunt, sister of Lt. Col. Mark L. Stephens, commented "it is inhuman to be kept wondering and waiting, but still we are optimistic that he will be one of those to come home."

The reaction of Mrs. Doris Dingwall, whose husband was one of the first to go to Vietnam over seven years ago, was one of disappointment that her husband's name was not on the list. Still she is hopeful.

At present, they are all looking for a list from Laos, but when it will be released—no one knows.

Burnett supports privilege

By DOTTIE EULER
Universe Staff Writer

Dr. M. Dallas Burnett, professor of mass communications law at BYU, voiced his support of granting reporter privilege in a televised lecture delivered to a current affairs class last night.

In his address, Dr. Burnett opposed views on reporter privilege presented two weeks ago in a similarly televised program which featured former BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson.

In addition to his remarks on reporter privilege, Dr. Burnett also spoke on freedom of the press and the responsibility of the mass media, because these items are "interrelated to reporter privilege," he said.

Basically reporter privilege is "a news gatherer's right to refuse to disclose sources when asked to do so by a court, a grand jury or in a legislative investigation," said Dr. Burnett. He stressed that the subject of reporter privilege is not merely a clear-cut black and white issue, but rather a matter of philosophy and opinion.

DR. BURNETT cited the major exceptions to testifying and disclosure of sources. These include the Constitutional exception, more commonly known as self-incrimination, the common law exception, which is granted to lawyers and their clients, the statutory exception, which is the clergy or priest-confessor relationship, and that confidential relationship held by the doctor-patient group.

"Great public good comes about as a result of the confidential information relationships," said Burnett.

Although he felt the reporter's position, in regard to confidential information which he may have, is slightly different, Dr. Burnett said he would like to see reporters granted a similar exception.

"A reporter is dealing with the Social units on BYU will be the topic of Wednesday's brown bag luncheon with President Dallin Oaks, J. Elliot Cameron, dean of Student Life, and ASBYU President Bill Fillmore.

The meeting will be at noon in 321 ELWC.

This will be the second brown bag lunch session this year in which Dr. Oaks and Fillmore have met with students to discuss matters of University policy.

'It's people'

"It's people we're concerned with, not programs," stressed Elder Paul H. Dunn of the First Council of Seventy in a friendly Sunday night in the Marriott Center for the BYU Second Stake.

"If I have one concern as I travel the length and breadth of the Church, it's that if we're not careful, we'll have a tendency to put programs ahead of people," Elder Dunn went on to explain that all the facilities and programs of the Church and BYU exist for only one purpose, that of developing the people who use them.

Elder Dunn spoke of three "F's," faith, friendship and family, as the important things in life.

"This is the time in your lives to build friendships. Of the possessions I count most prized and dear in my life besides my family, it is my friends," he said.

Church Presidency reiterates abortion stand

Editor's note: Following is the text of the LDS First Presidency's stand on abortion, which was issued Saturday.

In view of a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, we feel it necessary to restate the position of the church on abortion in order that there be no misunderstanding of our attitude.

The church opposes abortion and counsels its members not to submit to or perform an abortion except in the rare cases where, in the opinion of competent medical counsel, the life or good health of the mother is seriously endangered or where the pregnancy was caused by rape and produced serious emotional trauma in the mother. Even then it should be done only after counseling with the local priesthood authority and after receiving divine confirmation through prayer.

Abortion must be considered one of the most revolting and sinful practices in this day, when we are witnessing the frightening evidence of permissiveness leading to sexual immorality.

Members of the church guilty of being parties to the sin of abortion must be subjected to the disciplinary action of the council of the church as circumstances warrant. In dealing with this serious matter, it would be well to keep in mind the word of the Lord stated in the 59th Section of the Doctrine and Covenants, verse 6, "Thou shalt not steal; neither commit adultery, nor kill, nor do anything like unto it."

As to the amenability of the sin of abortion to the laws of repentance and forgiveness, we quote the following statement made by President David O. McKay and his counselors, Stephen L. Richards and J. Reuben Clark Jr., which continues to represent the attitude and position of the church:

"As the matter stands today, no definite statement has been made by the Lord one way or another regarding the crime of abortion. So far as is known, He has not listed it alongside the crime of the unpardonable sin and shedding of human blood. That He has not done so would suggest that it is not in that class of crime and therefore that it will be amenable to the laws of repentance and forgiveness."

This quoted statement, however, should not, in any sense, be construed to minimize the seriousness of this revolting sin.

Signed, The First Presidency

A mournful peace

Saturday's Vietnam cease-fire has perhaps brought a fitting non-end to a long and tedious non-war. With reports of approximately 500 Communist attacks in South Vietnam since the truce began, the American public's subdued non-reaction to the peace news seems strikingly appropriate.

Regardless of future events, the reality of the conflict is only too clear to those Americans whose friends and loved ones are among the 46,000 soldiers who never returned. For most, however, it is difficult to imagine the magnitude of the tragedy that has befallen the Vietnamese people.

Including both civilian and military casualties, officials estimate 570,000 South Vietnamese have been killed—a number if proportionately applied to the U.S. population would mean the annihilation of the residents of Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Montana and North and South Dakota (6 million).

Nearly half of all South Vietnamese have become refugees during the 12-year struggle. This corresponds to the uprooting of citizens of 21 American states, including heavily populated California and Illinois.

Another 12 per cent of South Vietnam has been sprayed with defoliating chemicals—an equivalent U.S. land area of approximately 14 Atlantic Seaboard states.

Such destruction is nothing new in the history of war. Yet the pain and agony of the Vietnamese people can never be forgotten by those who experienced it.

Perhaps it is only natural that a subdued reaction be shown at the end of such a conflict. Rather than the joy of triumph and the revelry of spoils, mourning at man's inability to live in peace is in order.

"I KNEW PEACE WAS IN THE BAG EVER SINCE HE STARTED READING THE WANT ADS..."

Your 10 cents' worth

After losing so many inflated dollars to taxes and titling, telephone bills and textbooks, food and fun, there may not be much left over for charity.

But the March of Dimes is one organization that knows how much can be done with a little, when it is combined with the small contributions of others.

Since 1958, the March of Dimes has been pooling little donations—contributions from housewives and students as well as from business executives and corporations—to give countless children the gift of life.

The work actually started when President Franklin D. Roosevelt started the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in 1938. At the time, people thought polio was an inevitable part of life. But within a few years, the Salk vaccine was discovered. Now polio is so rare that few, if any, cases are reported annually.

It was work paid for with March of Dimes money, too, which conquered rubella; already thousands of babies have been spared unsightly or fatal birth defects which would have been caused by German measles. March of Dimes contributions, have also given us the Rh vaccine, an invaluable tool in saving the lives of babies whose Rh factors are incompatible with that of their mothers.

More recent is the development of amniocentesis, or fetology. Thanks to modern science—sponsored by March of Dimes money—doctors can now detect birth defects in children long before they are born. Researchers are predicting a time not too far in the future when they will be able to correct defects in the womb. Contributions to the March of Dimes are helping assure success for these scientists.

A whole 'nother loop

It didn't take long for the tobacco industry to figure a way back into television advertising.

The trick is called "little cigars," and even though the product may look like a cigarette in a darker wrapper, "it ain't," says the ad. "It's a whole 'nother smoke."

Manufacturers are able to get away with the advertising because of a tax classification which differentiates between the little cigars and cigarettes.

Hopefully, Senator Frank Moss' forthcoming amendment which would include little cigars in the law banning cigarette advertising over the air, will be successful in closing the legal loopholes.

The differentiation between products on the pro different types of tobacco hardly seems reasonable excuse to allow one and the other.

The claim of cigar smokers that little cigars are not inhale worthless. Even if this is true, it can be argued the unhealthy to the lung also be harmful to the throat.

At strong issue here is the nation's tobacco and the sale of the almighty manufacturers have the persuade the public to their lives and health?

Scholarship rule challenged

Coeds file suit against NCAA

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Eleven coeds from two South Florida colleges have filed suit in federal court challenging a National Educational Association rule that prohibits athletic scholarships for women.

ATTORNEY Ted Hainline said the suit, which was filed in U.S. District Court here last week, accuses the Division of Girl's and Women's Sports of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation of sex discrimination.

Hainline said the organization, which is an affiliate of the NEA, has jurisdiction over all intercollegiate athletics for women.

THE ATTORNEY said he represented six coeds from Broward County Community College in Fort Lauderdale and five from Marymount College in Boca Raton. All are tennis players.

The suit, Hainline said, seeks to overturn a rule barring from intercollegiate athletic events any woman student "who receives an athletic scholarship, financial award, or financial assistance designated for athletes."

Hainline said the rule stated

Cat wrestlers win in Logan

"I don't know what got into us, but we were ready for this one."

Thus Ben Ohai, a 190-pounder, described the Cougars' win in the Mountain Intercollegiate Wrestling Association Tournament last Friday and Saturday in Logan. The Cats won going away from Northern Colorado, 107-62. BYU had piled up so many points Friday night that the Cougars could have stayed away from Saturday's finals and still have won the meet.

But it was a good thing they didn't as four BYU grapplers won individual titles. Ohio, Mark Hansen, Mike Hansen and Laron Hansen all took titles with the youngest Hansen, David, finishing fourth.

The Cats pushed five men into the championship finals and four

Cats win big

BYU's Collegiate and Open men's volleyball teams took first and second in the Denver Athletic Club Invitational in Denver Saturday.

Competing against the host, Denver Athletic Club, the Salt Lake City YMCA and the Denver YMCA, the Collegates compiled a 6-2 record and defeated the Open squad 15-10 in a playoff for the title.

The Open team had scored a 4-4 match and defeated the host club for the right to face the Collegates.

Steve Congdon was voted the Collegates' outstanding spiker, followed by Gregg Jensen, Dan Smith and Dave Thomson in a second-place tie. Ron Larsen got the nod as outstanding setter.

The tourney was the Cats' first of the year, said Coach Carl McGown.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — An agreement has been reached in U.S. District Court that will allow limited competition between girl and boy athletes in non-contact high school sports events in Connecticut.

The Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference agreed Monday to amend its regulations effective in March so that girls can compete with boys in a variety of non-contact sports where no team program exists for young women. Existing CIAC rules, which govern competition in high school sports, prohibit schools that allow girls to compete from taking part in conference-sanctioned events.

second in the intermountain championships, close behind the University of Northern Colorado. Of the 11 records set in that meet, eight of them were established by BYU girls. Sprinters Becky Brown and Linda Hamilton and javelin thrower Launa Thompson join Debbie as the only returnees from last year's squad.

"We would like to see more girls come out for the team," said Coach Hawkes. "We know that there is a lot more talent here at BYU."

Those interested may see Coach Hawkes in her office (287 R, B) or at the Smith Fieldhouse indoor track from 8 to 9 every morning when the team trains.

added that California had the top four teams in the country last year.

UCLA is the defending national champ but Long Beach State is the power this year with a 25-0 record. Both teams will compete in the tournament.

BYU will have a practice game with Long Beach State on the main floor of the Smith Fieldhouse at 7 p.m.

"It will give us a chance to see where we stand," said Miss Michaels. "We have the most potential of any BYU teams to get to the finals but we haven't been able to play anybody outside of this area. The Long Beach game will help us tune up."

Curnow wins again

Diver 1st in Chicago

BYU's All-American diver Stan Curnow gave a good account of himself this past week in two Big Ten swimming meets.

Facing some of the nation's premiere divers in last week's Ohio State-Northwestern and Ohio State-Wisconsin meets, Stan came away with two first-place finishes, one second and one sixth.

"We were extremely pleased with Stan's showing last week," noted BYU diving coach Rollie Bester. "His diving was exceptional Friday night in Chicago. He has a lot going for him now as he prepares for the WAC and NCAA meets later in the year."

Stan totaled 329 points in the one-meter dive and 339 in the three-meter in the OSU-Northwestern meet to sweep first-place honors. He was 36 points ahead of OSU's Dave Mareau in the one meter and had a one-point advantage over the Buckeyes' Tim Moore in the three meter. Moore finished third nationally in both events last season.

Saturday in Wisconsin, Stan again scored 329 in the one-meter for second place, but slipped to sixth with a 302 in the three-meter. Moore took first in both events with totals of 336 and 326 in the one and three meter respectively.

Ohio State had six divers in the final round of last year's NCAA meet, while Wisconsin's Jeff Huber and Giman Sear are both considered potential finalists in this year's meet. Huber and Sear finished third and fourth respectively in Saturday's three-meter competition.

Nominees okayed

WASHINGTON—The nomination of Elliot L. Richardson as Secretary of Defense was confirmed yesterday by the Senate. Richardson is outgoing Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The Senate Labor Committee approved the nomination of Peter K. Brennan, New York Labor leader, to be Secretary of Labor.

Trial goes to jury

WASHINGTON—The Watergate trial will go to the jury Tuesday after some lengthy instructions from the judge. The defense for Gordon Liddy and James McCord presented 11 witnesses Tuesday in one hour and 12 minutes. Chief U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica said his instructions to be delivered today to the jury will run 40 pages.

Hey, big spender

WASHINGTON—President Nixon sent to Congress yesterday a proposed fiscal 1974 budget totaling $268.7 billion which he said will help the country toward "a new era of progress." It marks an increase of about $19 billion over the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

Alpha or Omega?

SAIGON—The last man to die before the cease-fire in Vietnam was Lt. Col. William Nolde of Mt. Pleasant, Mich. He was killed eleven hours before the peace took effect on Sunday. While Nolde may be the last official victim of the "war," the "peace" took its toll also. Helicopter Pilot Anthony Dal Pozzo, Santa Barbara, Calif. was shot down and killed one hour and 45 minutes after the cease-fire went into effect.

Now what?

SALT LAKE CITY—The Utah anti-war movement which opened up a storefront office just one week before peace was declared in Vietnam, is turning to domestic issues. The group will call itself the United Front, shortening its original title of United Front to End the War. "We want to remain sort of loose so we can face any issue that comes up," explained a spokesman.

Silence is cheaper

OLYMPIA, Wash.—The Rev. Maurice L. Haehlen, who occasionally conducted prayers in the state legislature here before his retirement, said that the legislative prayers should be stopped. "I am convinced that a period of plain old silence would do as much good," he added. Haehlen claimed that clergymen did not "play it straight" but acted as "ecclesiastical lobbyists." In addition it would "save the taxpayers a tidy sum in honorariums," he noted.

Total annihilation

LOS ANGELES—Four secret volumes of the Pentagon Papers opened for public inspection for the first time Monday revealed that in 1964, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge discouraged "total annihilation" in Vietnam because "there will be nobody left in North Vietnam on whom to put the pressure," and might bring the Chinese and Russians into the war. Lodge's memo to the Secretary of State was marked top secret and filed with other correspondence in one of the four books on the secret diplomacy of the Johnson administration.

Fourth week

SALT LAKE CITY—The Utah legislature opened its fourth week Monday with the Senate approving bills to repeal the power of counties to levy a $5 vehicle registration fee. The Senate also approved a bill granting Weber State College bonding authority to build a special events center.

European cutback

BRUSSELS, Belgium—Representatives of the U.S., the Soviet Union and 17 of their allies will meet Wednesday in Vienna to try to work out a basis for cutting the armed forces of the East and West facing each other in the heart of Europe. With the U.S. will come Canada, Britain, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy, Turkey and Greece. The Soviets are bringing East Germany, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Romania.

"Tough guy" flown home

NEW YORK—The body of Edward G. Robinson, the movie "tough guy" who died Friday in Hollywood was flown here Monday for burial.

IRS rules 'tax' the brain ere are several things that nt taxpayers should either or be reminded of to help n prepare their 1972 tax as.

st, you have got to get your forms. BYU mailed out 00 W-2's on January 19 and n a week over 400 were rned through the mail, d to Mac Cene Grimmer, ll supervisor.

example, in Utah during the school year and at home during the summer, should file a return for both states. Those who are not legal residents of Utah should pay the amount due their home state and then take credit on that amount toward any taxes they might owe Utah, according to Dick Nielson, manager of the Provo branch of H&R Block, tax consultants.

After a three-year leave of absence, the short form, 1040A, is back. This should ease the burden, if not the eyestrain, of many taxpayers with incomes mainly from wages and salaries.

But you should exercise some caution before you opt for the short form. The Internal Revenue Service has provided a rough guide that will help in determining whether you would be just as well off using 1040A instead of itemizing deductions.

This will require a calculation of your deductions for such expenses as medical and dental care (expenses minus three per cent of income is deductible and this includes travel cost and even parking); interest; taxes (state and local including sales income and gasoline); contributions, such as tithing and fast offerings; and child care (as much as $400 deductible).

Next, you must figure your adjusted gross income, the total of income from wages and salaries and tips from interest and dividends.

Most students' incomes will figure at far below $8,666.66, but that is the level at which the IRS says you should itemize because your tax bill will be less.

But itemizing can reduce your tax bill at much lower incomes.

"I SAVED $60 by itemizing on an income of $2,500 and $500 in dividends," claimed Neal Bosshardt, a senior from Redmond, Utah.

"By itemizing I received $60 instead of $20 on my federal return and $5 from the state instead of paying $10," said Bosshardt.

"Definitely itemize your Utah return," said Nielson, "because Utah does not have much of a standard deduction."

If your parents paid over 51 per cent of your support in 1972 then they can save as much as $150 by claiming you as a dependent, said Nielson.

"MARRIED COUPLES in this category must file separately if their parents are to benefit," Nielson said.

Personal exemption allowed per dependent is now $750 and single students whose gross income is under $2,050 don't have to file. But the requirement is $750 for married taxpayers filing separate returns.

History in the making

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Hey, big daddy," says a Pentagon pamphlet for returning prisoners of war, "when your young son or daughter comes to you and says, 'Do you dig?' you can say, 'Lay it on me dude, and right on.'"

The pamphlet is a dictionary of slang expressions to help POWs—some of whom haven't been home in eight years—understand the language of today's youth.

"This is part of the language and the slang being used by the youth of today—your sons and daughters," says the pamphlet.

The POWs also can be expected to be unaware that Americans first landed on the moon July 20, 1969; that Richard Nixon was elected in 1968 and re-elected in 1972, or that "U.S. infantry troops entered the South Vietnamese village of Song My My Lai in March 1968 and murdered 450 civilians."

Summaries such as the latter are included in the pamphlet to bring the prisoners up-to-date on major events, sports highlights and deaths of prominent individuals since 1965.

The pamphlets will be handed out to the POWs as they arrive at Clark Field in the Philippines, first stop on the way home.

Other synopses cover such events as the Kent State shootings, the Sharon Tate murders, the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali prizefight, the attempted assassination of Gov. George Wallace, Marilyn Monroe's death, the 1972 presidential race and finally, presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's successful negotiations to end the war.

Mock disaster

stresses training

An ounce of prevention is worth the lives of children and Utah Technical College at Provo set out last weekend to prove the principle. Thirty-two Utah bus drivers recently participated in a four-week training session on driver safety which culminated in a lively demonstration Saturday. Children and drivers practiced evacuation procedures (top right), while burning mannequins gave them a taste of possible emergencies (left). Then the bus was set afire for a dramatic dousing lesson (top right). All of the state's 800 school bus drivers are expected to participate in the safety training next year.

DECORATE WITH PHOTOGRAPHS

No matter where you go, you'll see more and more photos being used for decoration. They're in offices and homes and no matter the decor they look pretty impressive.

You can buy prints for decoration, but why have the same picture on your wall that 1,000,000 other people do? Have your favorite slides and negatives made into prints. It's easy to do and you'll be proud to have your picture on the wall.

You don't have to use color either. Black and white pictures lend themselves to decoration very well, and you can save some money in the process. Once you have your pictures processed, you'll need to mount them some way so that they can be hung on the wall. Some pictures look very nice in a frame, but you can save some money by simply mounting them on mounting board or plain cardboard.

We have all the materials you need to mount your pictures, and the best black-and-white and color labs available to make your prints. Come in and see us soon.
